

Specification:
Training for a lighting management system

Training:

Initial training of the operating personnel nominated by the customer, including fault diagnosis and fault elimination for the lighting management system.

Training takes place after the system has been set up or during trial operation and must be conducted by the system installer.